RICH PRIZES IN MISSING WORD CONTEST

Readers of Daily Register Offered Opportunity For Profit In Reading Advertisements

An entertaining and interesting feature is started in today's Daily Register, "The Missing Word Contest." It consists of a page of advertising which will be run for thirteen weeks and which we believe will be read each week by everyone of the Daily Register's large army of readers.

This feature page, of course, offers splendid advantages to the merchants as an advertising medium, while the "Missing Word Contest" offers an interesting proposition to our many readers for the reason that by carefully reading each ad every week they will have an opportunity to compete for the prizes of money which are offered as prizes and which go to those who are successful in finding all or the most of the missing words in the thirteen weeks.

On the contest page, the editor has intentionally omitted one whole word from one advertisement only. This word being omitted makes the sentence read grammatically wrong.

The word omitted this week begins with the letter A and ends with letter S. Now in order to find this word, the reader must read every ad on the page and when a sentence is found in which a word is omitted, the missing word must be supplied. The clue to finding the missing word each week will be found in the rules located in the center of the Contest page. When you are sure you have found the missing word, fill out the return blank with the answer. Be sure to write your name and address plainly and sign your name the same way on each succeeding answer. As an illustration, if you sign your name the first time Mrs. J. H. Jones and the next reply comes in Mrs. Mary Jones we have no way of determining that both replies belong to the same party. Mail all replies to Contest Editor, care this paper.

In order to be counted, replies must be in this office by Tuesday night of each week.

The Daily Register wishes to inform its readers that it is in no way responsible for the wording of advertisements that appear in print on the contest page. The advertisement is written by the merchant and sent in for publication. We set the advertisement in type, exactly as it has been written and take a proof of the ad. After the proofs have been read we draw a circle around a word in one of the advertisements, mark a notation on the proof "to be cut." The word is then taken out and the line properly spaced.

Each Wednesday after the Missing Word for the week previous, has been announced, the original copy containing the word and the proof of the advertisement showing the word in print, will be posted in one of the windows in the front of our office.

The only persons barred from entering this contest are the employees of this office and their families or any one connected with the working force of this paper.

Business men and their families have the privilege to participate.

The list of prizes to be given in the contest are listed with the rules on the Contest page. The readers should not give up if unable to find a word any week, but should keep trying until the close of the contest, for it is not believed that any one person will find all the missing words during the thirteen weeks.

The prizes will go to those finding the most of the missing words, so you may easily be repaid for your time and trouble if you find several of the thirteen missing words.

GOLF CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Richmond Golf Club was held in the court house at 7:30 Thursday evening, E. S. Wiggins presided.

A permanent organization was perfected and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Elmer Deatherage, President; R. J. McKee, Vice-President; Miss Marianne Collins, Secretary, and W. Neale Bennett Treasurer. Mrs. D. B. Shackelford, Hart Perry, Allen Zaring, Lewis W. Dunbar and R. H. Embree were appointed to compose the board of directors.

Several committees will be appointed in the near future by the board of directors. These committees will be known as the grounds committee, the campaign committee, publicity committee, greens committee and club house committee. The present campaign committee will act until the machinery of the new organization can get going and in good running order.

Some of the enthusiasts of the Richmond Golf Club have been in communication with several golf architects and it is the intention of the club to have one of these men come here in the near future and lay this course out. It is the intention to have everything in readiness by May 1st, so that the members will be playing golf at that date. There are several people in Richmond whom the "golf bug" has bitten and who have played golf on $50,000 golf courses in the south and many say that the site the Richmond Golf Club has leased is far superior to many comprising large investments.

Up to date 85 have joined the ranks and the campaign committee expects to have about 150 members by April 15th.

Several of the leading merchants of Richmond have been keeping wires hot for the last three or four days, getting in touch with golf equipment houses in order that when the time to play arrives, they will be able to cope with the big demand for golf sticks, balls etc.

TO TALK HOSPITAL AT BIG MEETING

Union Service At First Christian Church To Discuss What's Best To Do

There will be a popular meeting in the First Christian church Sunday night at 7:30 to consider the report of the conference committee regarding an addition to the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary on the building of a new hospital.

An out of town speaker will be present and short addresses will be made by representatives of the Pattie A. Clay Board and the medical board of Richmond, and by some of the pastors of the city. Many hoped that sentiment in favor of a new hospital will be so crystallized in this meeting that a permanent program looking to this end can be set up.

There will be special music in this union meeting which the choirs of the various churches will unite.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of physicians of the city and county the past week. Drs. Murison Dunn, and M. M. Robinson being the committee:

As a result of the sentiment which has been aroused in the community demanding that more adequate hospital facilities be provided in order that the sick of our town and county can be properly cared for. Several of the physicians of town and county met to discuss it and if possible, arrive at some opinion which would express the sentiment of the physicians and in our opinion be the best procedure for the welfare of all, not only for the present needs, but for the future as well.

Our present hospital the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, has done a noble work for the past 25 years but the demand has far outgrown the capacity of the institution. We feel that the addition of a few rooms, even if it were possible to add to the present structure advantageously, which in our opinion is impossible, would be ill advised, as the cost of such an addition would be a splendid nucleus for the erection of a new building which would not only take care of the present needs, but for the future as well.

We feel that the present location is well suited, as there is ample space for a new building within easy distance, and with the old building which would provide a home for the nurses, and also some room which could be used for patients, if needed.

We believe that a building not necessarily ornate, but providing everything in the way of scientific arrangement and equipment of a modern hospital, of at least fifty bed capacity, will be needed.

The official board of the P. A. C. Infirmary concur with the sentiment of the physicians as above stated.

Mrs. E. Tutt Burnam, Pres.; Mrs. W. H. Grider, Pres. Ex. Board; Mrs. Geo. Simmons, Treas.; Mrs. A. J. Suit, Sec.

WALLER BENNETT, JR., DIES IN OREGON

Many relatives and friends here sympathize with Mrs. Samuel Bennett, of Lexington, formerly of Richmond, in the loss of her son, Waller Bennett, Jr., whose death occurred Friday at a hospital in Portland, Oregon. 600,000 MINERS ARE ESTIMATED ON STRIKE

Great Coal Fields Are All Shut Down But East Kentucky Is Mostly Working

(By Associated Press)

For the first time in history both the bituminous and anthracite coal fields are idle today as a result of cessation of work by 600,000 miners effective midnight last night.

Union officials asserted 100,000 non-union miners are included in the walk out and that 6,000 of the 7,500 mines in the country are shut down.

The daily loss in the anthracite field alone will amount of $800,000 in wages and affects 20,000 families.

The first day of the nation-wide suspension fell on the anniversary of the adoption of the eight-hour day. As it is generally observed as a holiday in normal times, today's estimate of the completeness of the suspension is not regarded as final.

In Kansas where the Industrial Court ordered work to continue for a month, union officials asserted the walkout in that state will be complete Monday.

Operators in the Morgantown district of West Virginia announced today they would reopen Monday on an open shop basis.

Miners Shoot Policemen

Ford's Coal Company Continues To Operate

Pineville, Ky., April 1—Union miners in the Bell and Harlan county coal fields are holding a series of mass meetings today in an effort to gain adherents. It is regarded as certain, however, the district will continue to operate at a fourth to a third of its capacity.

Henry Ford's Banner Fork Coal Corporation at Wallis's Creek Harlan county, will continue to operate, President Keller, of District 19, said today because the plant is "paying living wages." The United States Coal and Coke Company at Lynch, Harlan county, and Wisconsin Steel Company at Benham, also will continue in operation. The latter companies are non-union.

Miners Lose $2,000,000 A Day In Wage In Strike

Indianapolis, April 1—Reports to union headquarters here today showed a shutdown in every field in the country with the only uncertainty as to the effectiveness of suspension of work being the number of non-union miners who had joined the walkout. President John Lewis estimated 600,000 men are idle. Some operators said the effectiveness of the suspension of work will not be shown until Monday, apparently expecting some men to return to work then. Union officials estimated the lost daily production of bituminous coal at 1,200,000 tons and approximately $2,000,000 daily in wages.

Miss Helen Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. George David Jefferson, her guests, of London, England, were in Lexington Friday.

Mr. Bullitt McCown, of Lexington, made a business trip to Richmond Friday.

POOL TO DISTRIBUTE PROCEEDS OF SALE

With the closing of most of the receiving plants of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association the past week, will come the work of apportioning a second distribution of funds received from the sale of the association crop, Secretary H. L. Earley said Saturday.

Mr. Earley said it will require some time to work out the apportionment and still further time to write the 75,000 checks necessary to make the distribution, and that, he said, was the reason he was unable to say just when the distribution would be made.

Mr. Earley said that there are not 75,000 members of the association, but that attachments had been served in some cases, and that there will be at least 20,000 assignments, most of these to secure loans advanced by banks, following the advance received on delivery, the banks receiving the check for the loan and the interest and the grower the remainder of the amount distributed.

Contracts continued to come in the past week to the office of Assistant Chief of the Field Service Division William Collins at the Tattersall warehouse. The number received the previous week was 235, representing 543,000 pounds of tobacco and with no special effort made by claimants in any county to obtain signatures, most of those signing doing so voluntarily.

Of the 235 contracts received 85 came from Pendleton county, 32 from Lewis, 16 from Campbell, 10 from Clermont county, Ohio, nine from Green county, eight from Garrard, eight from Bullitt, seven from Boyle, six from Lincoln, six from Casey, five from Franklin and four from Henry. The others came from all parts of the district.

WILL PHOTOGRAPH THIEF'S FINGER PRINTS

Burglar Breaks Into Cox and March's Store But Leaves Strong Clew In Dust

The new act of the last legislature providing that a burglary committed in the night time may be punished by life imprisonment or death, in the discretion of the jury, evidently didn't frighten a bold burglar who forced his way into the Cox & March hardware store on West Main street some time Friday night.

The street lights weren't placed to give him the light he needed to find his way about, so he took a flash light out of a case and went about his business deliberately. Entrance was effected by tearing off a screen from a back window, breaking a pane of glass and the unlatching the window fastener.

After looting the store of everything he desired, he left. Mullikin's bloodhounds were quickly sent for and took trail, which led down South Second street across the Madison High school grounds, to Water, to Collins, out East Main, across to Irvine and to the old barrel factory. Here the dogs seemed unable to make further progress. Police think they have a pretty fair clew and are working hard on the case.

Only $5 in cash was secured by the midnight visitor. He sought entrance to the cash register, but evidently didn't know how to work it. So he picked up an auger and bored a couple of holes in one of the drawers. Then he evidently "caught on" to the trick, for the drawer was found open and $5 in change gone. Among other things missed were Stevens 12-gauge shotgun; one Winchester 16-shot target rifle; about 100 manicure sets; 24 pearl handle pocket knives, a lot of fine razors; about $25 worth of cheap watches, in all amounting to about $250 worth of loot.

Finger prints were plainly visible on the dust of the window pane which was broken to permit the intruder to open the fastener. Capt. V. G. Mullikin broke off part of the pane with the finger prints and took it to Lexington to have photographs made and enlarged. In this way it will be able to positively identify the burglar if he is ever taken in charge. All over the world police use the finger print as the only sure method of identification as thousands of tests have proven that the lines on no two individuals' fingers are exactly the same.

UNUSUAL SORT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

An accident occurred Friday afternoon on the Big Hill pike about two miles from Richmond. About 5:30 o'clock, when a party of folks, driving at good speed, ran suddenly into a bunch of cattle. The brakes of the car failed to work and the car was turned over a bank. There were eight in the car: Mrs. Henry Conn and three daughters, Nora, Eunice and Gladys, Misses Hancock, Boatwright and Dudley. Virgil Morris was driving the car. None of the people was seriously injured. Two of the cattle were crippled, however.

One week from today is the Easter bazaar for the benefit of Pattie Clay Infirmary.
